Description

Looking for a remote position where you can build real-world digital skills without prior experience or a college degree? This entry-level opportunity is built around a modern demand—helping businesses automate simple workflows using AI tools. You'll learn how to assemble backend systems that handle follow-ups, appointments, and lead tracking without needing coding or customer interaction.

The experience begins with a completely free, beginner-focused 5-day training, designed to walk you through the process of setting up your first automation from scratch using intuitive tools. It's hands-on, practical, and built for those brand new to the digital workforce.

What You'll Learn to Build

During your onboarding, you'll construct a working automation system that includes:

- A lead intake form that routes customer information
- Automated scheduling through calendar tools
- Email and text message reminders
- CRM-style organization of contact information
- Smart triggers that manage tasks without manual oversight

You won't be left to figure things out alone. The process is guided and step-by-step, even if you've never worked in tech before.

What This Skill Can Do for You

After you complete the onboarding, you'll understand how to:

- Build backend systems businesses rely on for day-to-day operations
- Use drag-and-drop platforms to deploy smart automation
- Support remote teams by handling the "invisible" work that keeps systems running
- Customize templates for different business needs and industries
- Contribute to operational support without being customer-facing

It's a launchpad into one of the fastest-growing digital skills on the market.
