Description

Position Summary

One of the fastest-growing online wellness brands is hiring Remote Chat Support professionals to assist its digital customer service team. This fully remote position is perfect for individuals with no prior experience or formal education. As a Chat Support Agent, you'll respond to customer questions using a live chat interface embedded in the company's website. No phone calls, video meetings, or outbound messaging are required. All conversations are conducted through text—making this the ideal entry point for focused, detail-oriented candidates who prefer behind-the-scenes communication.

Successful applicants will receive training and access to a guided platform that includes templates, auto-suggestions, and a searchable knowledge base.
