

<https://remotejobrecruiting.com/job/remote-writing-jobs-entry-level-online-content-creator-role-training-provided/>

LEARN MORE

Entry-Level Online Writing Positions | Digital Content Developer | Training Provided

Description

Job Title: Online Content Creator
Job Type: Independent Contractor
Location: Remote – Work from Anywhere
Experience Level: Entry Level – No Experience Required
Compensation: Performance-Based | Potential Up to $10,000/Month
Schedule: Set Your Own Hours | No Deadlines | No Shifts

About the Role

This is one of the most accessible remote writing jobs for entry-level individuals looking to generate income from home without prior experience or formal writing credentials. As an independent contractor, you'll be trained to research profitable content niches, identify digital product opportunities, and develop simple writing-based materials designed to sell on the Amazon Kindle platform. You won't be working for clients or writing long-form articles or blog posts. Instead, your content will be short-form, practical, and built around proven templates. You'll learn how to combine niche selection with structured content to create products such as guided journals, planners, trackers, and other low-content or medium-content Kindle books. You're not just writing—you're building digital content assets that continue to earn over time.

Key Responsibilities

Conduct niche research using tools and techniques provided during training. Identify trending or evergreen book topics in areas like wellness, productivity, parenting, budgeting, self-care, and fitness. Write structured content using provided frameworks and formatting guides. Develop short-form writing such as journal prompts, daily affirmations, productivity questions, and workbook sections. Organize written materials into content files that are ready to be formatted and uploaded. Ensure all writing is original, grammatically correct, and follows formatting standards. Revise and improve existing drafts based on commercial potential and category competition. Create consistent, high-quality content in a scalable way to increase the number of live products and earnings potential.

What You Will Learn

How to perform keyword research to discover profitable Kindle book niches. How to identify underserved categories with high buyer interest. How to structure content to meet reader expectations while keeping your writing process simple and repeatable.

Hiring organization

Amazon Kindle Writers

Employment Type

Full-time, Part-time, Contractor

Industry

Customer Service

Job Location

Remote work from: United States

Date posted

April 29, 2026

Valid through

01.01.2050

How to position and organize content for maximum appeal in the Amazon Kindle ecosystem. How to build multiple content assets that generate passive income each month. How to avoid saturated niches and stand out using strategic content creation techniques. This is a hands-on writing opportunity that also teaches foundational skills in self-publishing and digital content development.

What a Typical Day Looks Like

Begin by researching topics using the tools taught during training. Evaluate which ideas are commercially viable based on search volume, competition, and relevance. Once a profitable idea is selected, outline the type of content needed to support that book. Start writing short-form content—this could be a series of reflection prompts, a week’s worth of meal tracking entries, a set of budgeting questions, or themed productivity pages. Organize your content into a ready-to-format structure. As you gain experience, you’ll develop your own internal process for researching, writing, and organizing content faster. The more books you build, the more earning potential you unlock over time.

Who This Is For

This role is ideal for individuals who want to start earning with writing but have no desire to freelance, pitch clients, or write long essays. It’s designed for those who value independence, want to work quietly from home, and are motivated by building assets that compound over time. Perfect for stay-at-home parents, students, early-career professionals, creatives, side hustlers, and anyone who prefers structure over unpredictability. If you’re dependable, curious, and able to follow instructions, you can succeed in this position—even if you’ve never written professionally before.

What You’ll Need

A computer or laptop with internet access. Basic comfort using Google Docs or similar word processors. A willingness to follow step-by-step training and apply what you learn. The ability to focus for short work sessions and complete writing assignments without supervision. No paid software is needed. No design or formatting experience is required. You won’t need to handle sales, marketing, or customer service. Your focus will be on niche research and content creation only.

How to Succeed in Remote Work

Set up a dedicated space where you can research and write without distractions. Block off focused time each day or week to work on content development. Create a simple tracking sheet to monitor which niches you’ve explored and which books you’ve completed. Commit to finishing one book before starting another to avoid losing momentum. Use the research techniques to validate your ideas before you begin writing. Make steady progress each week, even if you can only commit a few hours. Treat your writing sessions like appointments. Over time, your catalog will grow and so will your monthly earnings.

Compensation and Growth Potential

This is a performance-based opportunity. You are compensated based on the commercial success of the content you create. Writers who consistently research profitable niches, apply the training, and build out well-structured content can earn hundreds to thousands per month. Some contributors who commit to creating content at scale earn over $10,000/month in royalties from books that continue to sell long after they're written. There are no earning limits and no quotas. Your income is based on how much high-quality content you can create and how well it performs in the Kindle marketplace. The more books you complete, the more opportunity you have to scale your earnings.

FAQs

Do I need experience to apply? No. This is specifically designed for beginners with no prior writing or publishing experience.

What kind of writing will I do? Short-form structured writing like journal prompts, affirmations, and tracker content. No long essays, sales copy, or articles.

Do I have to work a specific schedule? No. You work whenever you want. There are no shifts, meetings, or time clocks.

How do I get paid? Earnings are based on how well your published content performs. You'll be trained on how to maximize visibility and sales.

Will I need to market my books? No. Your job is to create content. The training shows how to position your writing so it sells without external marketing.

Is this a job or a business? It's an independent contractor position with unlimited potential. You create content once, and it can continue earning indefinitely.

How soon can I get started? Immediately after signing up and reviewing the training materials.

What if I'm not good at writing? As long as you can write clearly and follow formatting instructions, you'll do well. The training is designed for non-writers and uses repeatable systems.

How to Apply

This is one of the most beginner-friendly remote writing jobs available for those who want to work independently, learn a system, and get paid for building high-demand content that readers love. If you're ready to get started, click the Learn More button to begin. You'll gain access to the step-by-step process that teaches you exactly how to identify profitable book ideas and build content that performs. This isn't about writing for someone else. This is about building your own system and earning from what you create. Start now and build your own remote writing path—on your schedule, with your content, at your pace.

LEARN MORE

Disclosure

Disclaimer: Please note that RemoteJobRecruiting.com is NOT a recruitment agency. We are not an agent or representative of any employer.

Marketing Disclosure: This website is a marketplace. As such you should know that the owner has a monetary connection to the product and services advertised on the site. The owner receives payment whenever a qualified lead is referred but that is the extent of it.

Be sure to check out our partner sites at Jobtacular