Description

No Experience? No Degree? No Problem. Start a Remote Job That Pays Well and Trains You to Succeed

Let's keep it real: most companies claim they want "entry-level" applicants—but then ask for degrees and two years of experience. Not here. We're hiring Chat Support Agents who want to work from home, make $25-$35 per hour, and start without any formal background in customer service, college education, or remote work. This is your gateway to real income and real flexibility—all from your laptop.

What You'll Be Doing

You'll provide friendly, text-based customer support through our live chat platform. Customers will reach out with questions about accounts, billing, orders, or product information. You'll help them navigate issues using pre-written scripts and support resources. This role is 100% non-phone—just clear, helpful written communication.
